PENN STATE DELTA UPSILON
FALL 2025

A SEASON OF BROTHERHOOD AND RENEWAL

Reflecting, Reconnecting, and Looking Ahead

As fall wraps up and holidays draw near, it's a fitting time to reflect on all that makes Delta Upsilon at Penn State so special. Our undergraduate Chapter is preparing for executive board elections, ushering in a new generation of leaders ready to uphold our proud traditions and strengthen the brotherhood for years to come.

Meanwhile, the alumni board continues its work behind the scenes to preserve and enhance the Delta Upsilon experience. From navigating borough concerns to improving communication and alumni engagement, we remain confident in the path ahead and grateful for the ongoing support of our alumni network.

The new year will bring exciting milestones, including early plans for our 115th Founders Day celebration, which will be a momentous occasion honoring more than a century of friendship, character, and shared purpose. Stay tuned for event details and ways to get involved as the celebration takes shape!

Through every challenge and every triumph, one thing has remained constant: our brotherhood. Whether it's alumni mentoring undergraduates or brothers reconnecting after years apart, the sense of unity within DU continues to shine.

As we reflect on our recent "Movember" activities, we also take this time to recognize the importance of men's health awareness. This season of giving, I encourage all brothers to take a moment to check in on yourselves, your family, and your fellow DUs. A quick conversation or message can go a long way in strengthening the bonds that make this fraternity so meaningful.

Wishing you and your loved ones a joyous holiday season.

Fraternally,

BACK AT 229 LOCUST LANE

Alumni Share Stories and Enjoy Fellowship

On October 11, a small group of alumni brothers returned to the old house for an informal visit, spending the morning catching up and reminiscing about their time together at 229 Locust Lane. Stories were told, laughs were shared, and memories from across the decades came flooding back.

Although attendees represented more than 40 years of Delta Upsilon history, a special thanks goes out to the dedicated crew from the 1970s who showed up in force. Their presence was a reminder that while years may pass, the bonds of brotherhood remain timeless.

Chapter Goals

Strengthen Academic Excellence

Through structured study hours, peer mentorship between upperclassmen and new members, and incentives for academic improvement, we're committed to raising our cumulative GPA and reinforcing that academics come first.

Deepen Community Engagement

We plan to strengthen our presence in the State College community through consistent service and outreach. Our goal is to lead with integrity and give back to the community that supports us.

Broaden Philanthropic Impact

While THON remains a cornerstone of our service, we're expanding our efforts through additional philanthropy initiatives throughout the year by organizing smaller fundraisers, collaborating with other student organizations, and supporting causes meaningful to our brothers.

Growth and Excellence

George Prutzman '13 on His DU Experience and Career

Coming from a family of Penn State Delta Upsilon's, up to his great-grandfather, George Prutzman '13 was encouraged, but never forced, to check out the DU house.

"During the first recruitment event I attended, I had experienced a type of warm welcome from alumni representatives and an enthusiasm from my fellow undergrads that I hadn't experienced at other fraternities I visited," he recalled.

"Over the years after I joined the fraternity, any sort of fun or positive experience that I relayed with my family was met with an air of familiarity, in the sense that even though a lot of things will change, some things will remain the same."

George has fond memories of participating in charity events as an undergraduate, such as fundraising for THON annually. "One year, we participated in a Relay for Life event at the Spikes baseball stadium, which helped me get to know some of the newer brothers who had joined the fraternity."

In his career, George has worked for several companies that produce advanced RF electronics. "If you think about companies like Raytheon or Northrop Grumman, they have a giant network of sub-tier suppliers in order to build things for the military. I've worked within this network for the last 10 years or so."

George worked at Carlisle Interconnect Technologies, which specialized in high-frequency, highly durable coaxial cable, before moving to Spectrum Control, which makes electronics for both commercial and aerospace/defense applications.

"The most satisfying part of working in my industry is seeing our products in action," George shared. "Every so often, the news will have a story of a military defense system or a live feed of a new satellite launch. Despite contributing to a very small part of these incredibly advanced systems, it still puts a smile on my face knowing I had some part in these monumental feats of technology."

"DU has set a high standard in instilling and cultivating excellence in its members. As such, I try to bring that level of excellence into the workplace. Given the kind of work I'm in, doing just enough for the bare minimum is not, in fact, the bare minimum. The quality and functionality of the products we develop and produce need to be at a world-class level."

In his free time, George enjoys golfing ("which I do rather poorly") and fishing ("which I do slightly less poorly"). Spending time with his almost 2-year-old niece and 3-year-old nephew brings him joy. George also always looks forward to an annual beach trip with his DU brothers.

You can connect with George at georgeprutzman@gmail.com.

"The growth I made before and after joining DU was night and day."

DU Memorabilia

"I've inherited a fair amount of DU family heirlooms, and I think my favorite one is a DU tie that belonged to my great-grandfather. I don't dare wear it at weddings (especially DU weddings), but I'm happy to wear it for formal events like Founders Day dinners."

Thriving in Brotherhood and Service

Delta Upsilon's Fall Highlights

We continue to thrive through a strong commitment to academics, leadership, and service. Our brotherhood currently holds an impressive 3.33 cumulative GPA, reflecting our dedication to excellence both in the classroom and throughout the community.

Several brothers are members of the Accelerated Masters Group—one of Penn State's most prestigious programs known for its 100% placement rate on Wall Street. Among them is Brendan Bayer '25, who serves as AMG president. Many brothers also participate in the Penn State Wealth Management Association.

Philanthropy remains at the heart of who we are. During THON 2025, Delta Upsilon proudly placed fourth overall, raising an incredible $388,000 for children battling pediatric cancer. Beyond THON, our brothers stay actively involved in State College, most recently partnering with Alpha Phi for the annual Greek or Treat event, bringing joy to local children and families. Events like these remind us of the impact we can make when we come together in service.

Our enthusiasm for campus life also shines through Greek Sing, where brothers collaborate with a partner sorority in a musical and dance performance benefiting THON. The creativity, teamwork, and spirit displayed each year embody the values that make Delta Upsilon exceptional.

A special highlight this semester is Dom Pellegrino '25, whose dedication and initiative have significantly enhanced both our Chapter House and our sense of brotherhood. Dom designed and built custom die tables with unique, creative designs that have become a centerpiece of Chapter life. He also personally invested in upgrades for the house, including a new spotlight illuminating our front letters and a fresh coat of paint on the backyard letters. His hard work has not only improved our home but also deepened the pride and unity that define our Chapter.

Thank you for your continued support of our brotherhood.
